

1-800-Recycling.com Partners with FilmBizRecycling.org

August 24, 2010

It was announced today that 1-800-Recycling.com, an interactive nationwide company dedicated to simplifying and enhancing the consumer recycling experience, has partnered with FilmBizRecycling.org, a not-for-profit organization dedicated to helping the entertainment industry find homes for the enormous amounts of useful or reusable items discarded each day by the industry. The two organizations have agreed to pool their resources and exchange recycling and/or reuse location listings from their respective databases.

Via its mobile App, online resource and phone service, 1-800-Recycling provides information about recycling services and facilities to anyone, anywhere by zip code. Designed to make the recycling process easy and more accessible, 1-800-Recycling.com's widget will now also be a clickable icon on the FilmBizRecycling.org site, where literally tons of reusable items are routed to places where they are wanted. For those items that are not wanted, 1-800-Recycling.com can provide a green and responsible end of life.

"At FilmBizRecycling we address the triple bottom line: profit, people and planet," said Eva Radke, Founder and president of FilmBizRecycling. "We encourage every production to think about the impact of on and off-screen activities and donate every unwanted, useful and re-useable item to us so we can keep it out of the dumpsters and landfills. We realize that collaboration is where it's at and that what 1-800-Recycling is doing for all industries and individuals, in terms of making recycling more accessible, is significant. It's an ideal relationship we're forging because we know other industries can benefit from what we are doing and we know that our own network of entertainment industry contacts can benefit from the services 1-800-Recycling provides."

"We are extremely proud to be partnering with a Eva and her team at FimBizRecycling," said John Shegerian, Chairman and CEO of Electronic Recyclers International, the nation's leading recycler of electronics and e-waste, and parent company of 1-800-Recycling.com. "1-800-Recycling shares a common mission with FilmBizRecycling – to provide our users with greater accessibility to a greener life and business. By pooling our resources, we will now be able to offer FilmBizRecycling's entertainment industry network with yet another green option to keep their unwanted items out of landfills. We are extremely proud of this collaboration and what we will be able to accomplish together!"

1-800-Recycling.com provides users with nationwide outreach to help users find recycling locations nearest to them (every zip code in the country is covered) for whatever it is they wish to recycle.

For more information on recycling needs, visit www.electronicrecyclers.com, <http://1800recycling.com> or www.urbanmining.org.